1. Curriculum Enrichment

- To follow an academic calendar for right planning and implementation activities on time to time for the college which is created by the academic council.
- The Head of the Department should assign each teacher a specific syllabus based on their area of expertise. Every department should create a lesson plan that assigns topics to be taught over the course of a term. Each academic year or semester should begin with the preparation by faculty members of a semester-by-semester teaching plan for theoretical and practical.
- Teachers should run their classes in accordance with the schedule. Periodically, departmental meetings should be held to examine the finished syllabus. Department should incorporate classroom instruction with various ICT tools, field projects, student seminars, tutorials, question paper answering, field surveys, etc. to effectively transmit and deliver curricula.

- PPTs, models, charts, and different educational software should be used skillfully and successfully by professors to impart topic knowledge.
- For the efficient delivery of the curriculum, the college should arrange guest lectures, or expert lectures of renowned academicians. Under the Particular Guidance Scheme of remedial classes, the college also should offer special guidance to the slow learners. In addition to this, the college should include a mentoring programme for problems with academics.
- All internal exams and class assessments are to be used to determine if students have learned the material as outlined in the curriculum's learning objectives. Every exam should be administered in accordance with the academic calendar. Regular tutorials are held to check on the students' progress. Low achievers are to be given remedial/special/classes/deprived instruction.
- Offer add-on courses to the students to impart new skills among them and to open the doors of opportunities.
- Result oriented approach is in the core of all academic departments.
